Tribute to Mr. Coleman

The sense of humor is the just balance of all the faculties of man . . .

Memoirs of Thomas Hood

. . . Thus we think of the late Paul Coleman—teacher, scholar, wit and friend to many. His passing was deeply felt by those who knew him. He was not only a dedicated teacher, whose desire for learning was endless, but a sympathetic and understanding friend to many students.

During the short span of his life Mr. Coleman had accomplished much. He had graduated with honors from La Salle and Providence College, and at the time of his death he had been working towards his Master's degree. He had been a student teacher at Hope under Miss McDermott while still in college, and was asked to return to Hope as a member of the English department. Students who were in Mr. Coleman's classes can recall many hours of enjoyment, as he frequently added a humorous note to the day's lesson.

Mr. Coleman was friendly and warm. His fellow teachers marveled at his ability to make friends easily. Students enjoyed his joviality and frankness, and yet, they always respected and admired him. The memory of an inspiring teacher lingers on.

Tribute to Mr. Mullen

Life's race well run.
Life's work well done.
Life's victory won.
Now cometh rest.

Edward Hazen Parker

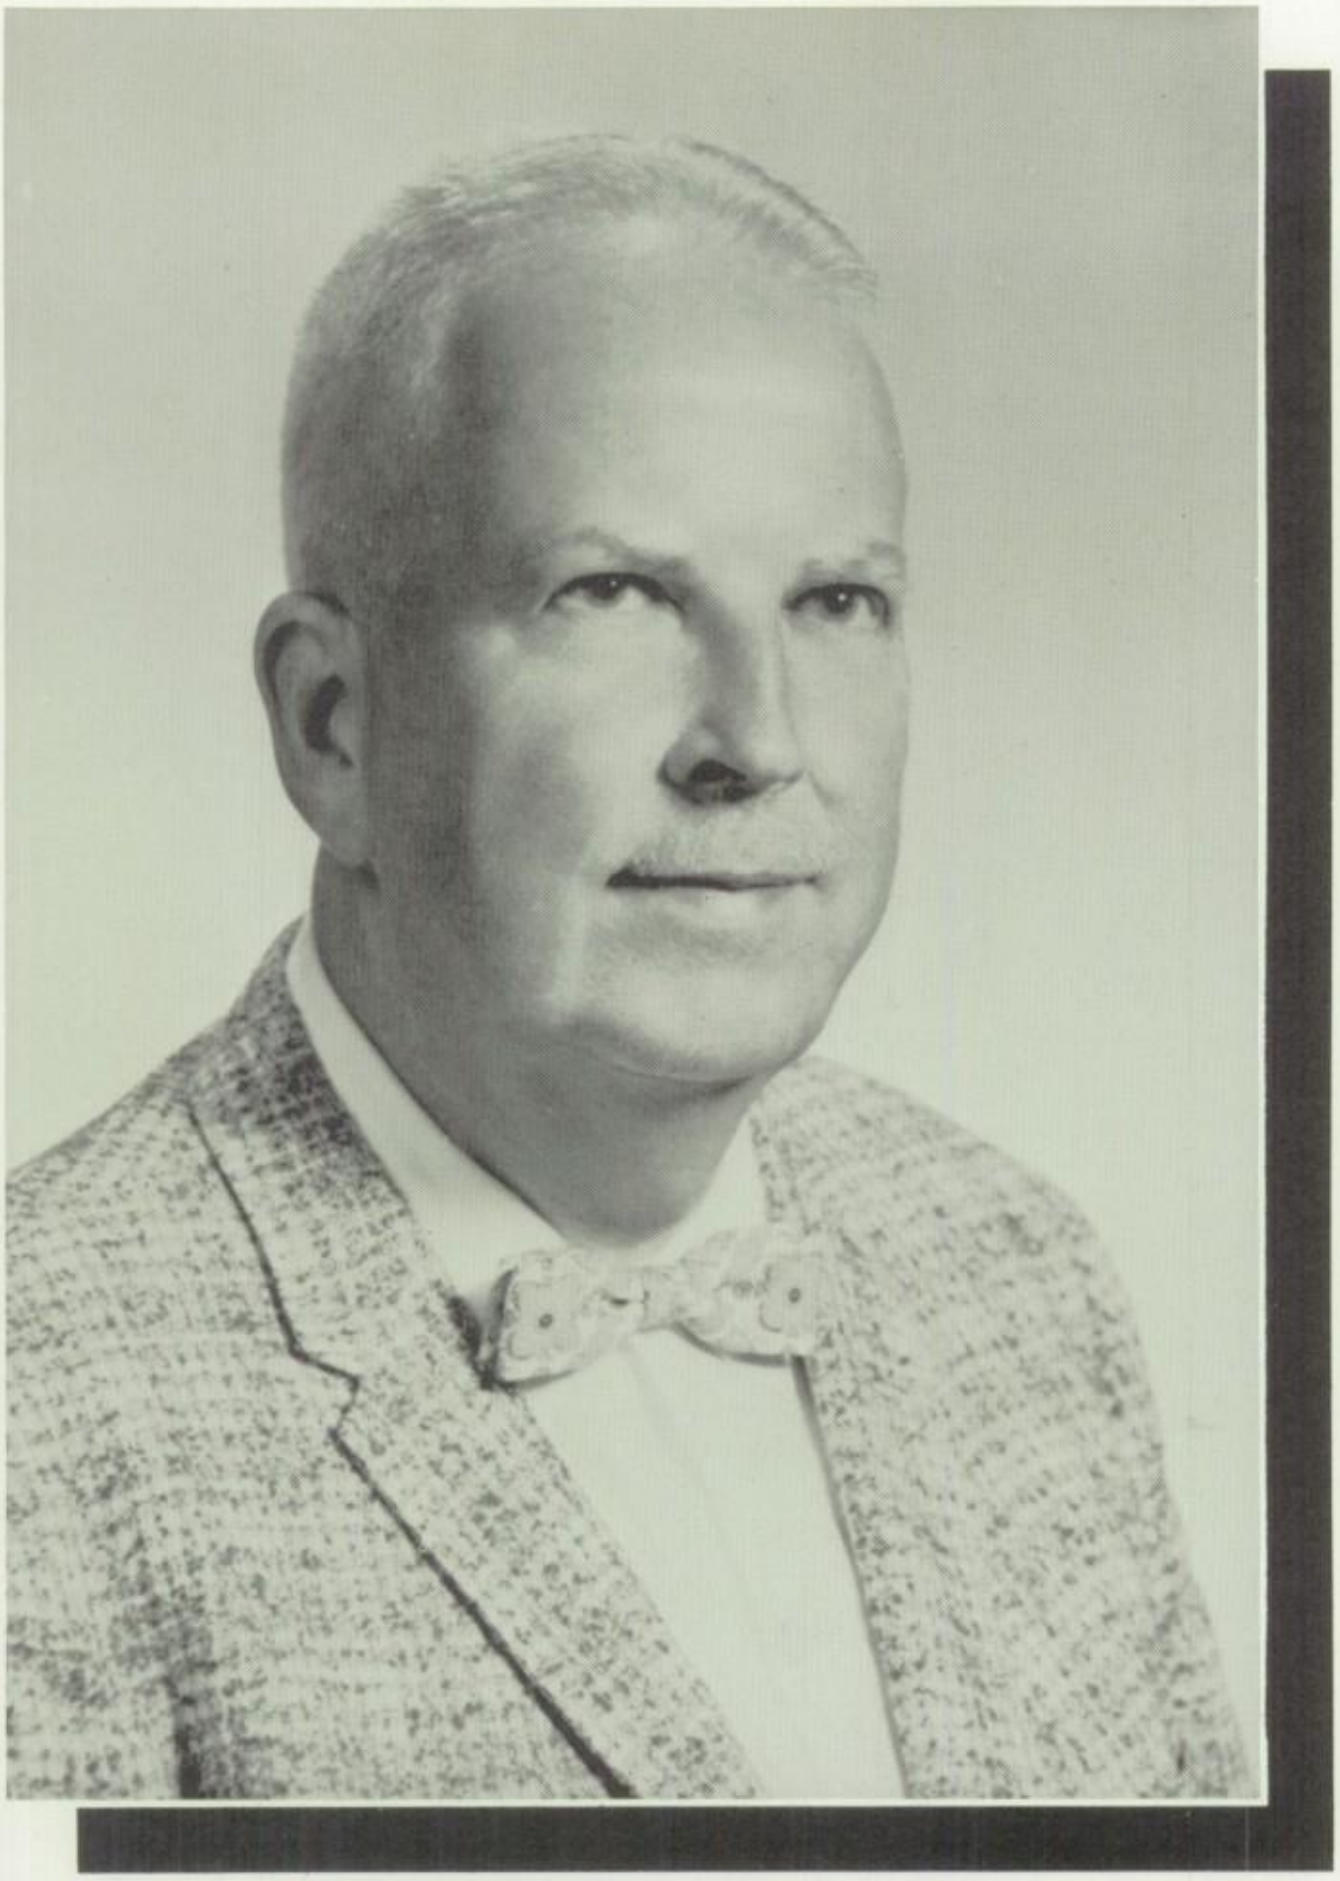
What a fitting eulogy for the late Mr. Edward F. Mullen, head hockey and football coach at Hope for many years! He passed away unexpectedly in September after he returned home from coaching football.

Mr. Mullen, a native of Lowell, taught physical education in Ayer, Mass., before coming to Hope High School. He was assigned to Sackett St. School, Laurel Hill Ave., and Gilbert Stuart Jr. High as a physical education teacher from 1929-1942. At Hope he was a coach of football and hockey and until three years ago a baseball coach. He helped to found the schoolboy scholarships program in hockey. Mr. Mullen's Hope hockey team won the Rhode Island Interscholastic League championship in 1960 and 1961. In 1953 and 1959 they were runners-up in state tournaments.

The passing of "Eddie" Mullen has been a great loss to the school, the community, and the state. He had been an integral part of Hope High since 1942. He will be missed by the faculty, alumni, and students of this school. Mr. Mullen had done much to foster, implement, and perpetuate the best tradition of physical education instruction and coaching. His influence and understanding affected many young men of this school in the years that he was here. We remember Mr. Mullen, as an outstanding person who left an everlasting impression on the school.

They awaken dormant curiosities
They infuse potent knowledge
They mold hidden destinies

They Lead Us From Shadow Into Light



HOWARD G. LEWIS,
Principal

Principal's Message

Not long ago the Providence Evening Bulletin printed a news story—important enough to have front page placement—captioned "Why Students Choose Hope For Senior High School."

Do YOU ever reflect seriously WHY this school has such an excellent reputation locally, in Rhode Island, outside the state, and with more than sixty colleges, universities, nursing schools, technical schools which our students enter each September—in twenty-four states throughout the country.

We at Hope are commended frequently for the excellence of our college preparatory studies, especially in Mathematics, Science, English, Modern Languages and Social Science. Hope High is the only Providence secondary school having an advanced placement program. Our academic status is clearly recognized, and we are certain that the social status of our student body is more than adequate. Our athletic programs over a long period have been extremely successful, with three State Championships in 1961—a record never attained by any other Rhode Island high school.

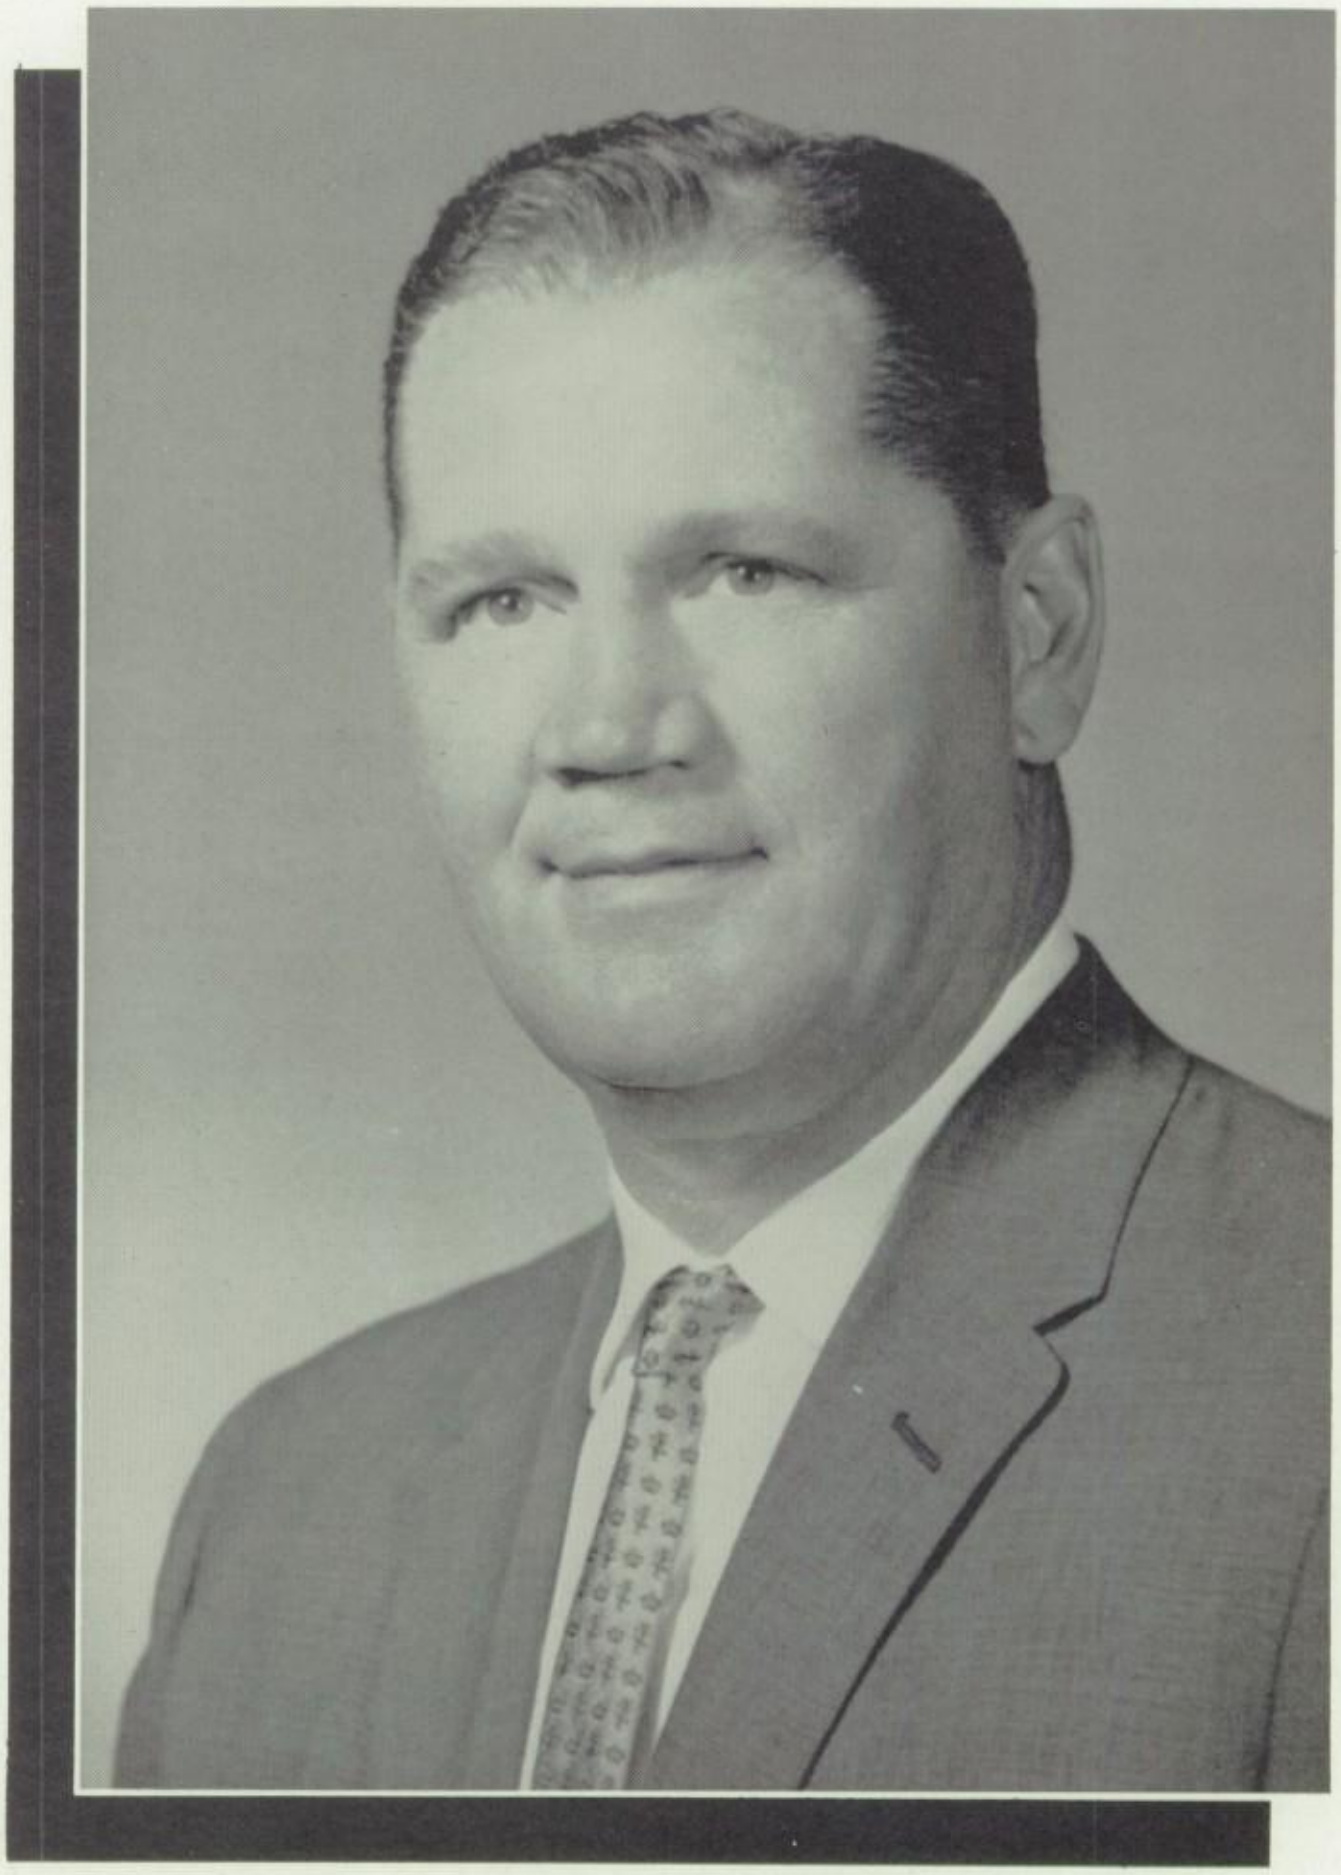
Our faculty, we believe, is second to none, and our large teaching staff, skilled and professionally competent, includes many specialists in specific teaching areas.

Our Business Administration division, which includes thirty per cent of our school, functions with proven competence. Each June we send into the community and nearby areas well trained stenographers, clerk-typists, bookkeepers, typists, and a variety of specialized clerical workers to serve business offices, banks, stores, mercantile establishments and industrial plants.

Hope High was opened in 1898 in what was then the outskirts of the city, with 17 teachers on its staff and through the years the school has increased steadily the services rendered its students, the city and state.

It is YOUR privilege to be a part of a high school with a rich tradition and splendid heritage. Do YOUR share in preserving, maintaining and improving the traditions and wonderful reputation of the school.

Vice-Principal's Message



JOSEPH P. DELANEY,
Vice Principal

Your choice of yearbook theme, From Shadow Into Light, is significant, revealing a realization that school years are enlightening but only preliminary to fuller understanding of the real meaning of education. You note that you have undergone change, another significant observation, for changes in you and in the world will be ever-present, requiring that you learn to recognize and stay abreast of them.

You have lived to see the first manned orbits of the earth. "On to the Moon!" Remember that these accelerating investigations of the unknown give man at once his greatest source of confident exhilaration, and also his greatest sense of anxiety. Both conditions present a challenge which you must learn to reconcile with the pace and scope of the changing age. Both will demand an awareness of the focus and direction which you must give to man's widening knowledge. It is a marvelous new world that the technologists are opening to you, but it is a world which must be carefully judged in the light of how such progress advances man's well-being and security and how well it fulfills his age-old aspirations. You must feel rather strongly that education should be a constant, deliberate quest for progress which does not willfully discard the time-tested truths which have underscored advancement to our present threshold of knowledge.

Deliberateness must also be your personal goal in your striving to attain excellence which connotes, if not perfection, at least the best you can achieve. You must dedicate yourselves to gleaning the ultimate from every experience that contributes to the whole, whether it be formal or informal education, sport and recreation, the inspiration of nature and music and poetry, and every contact with the universe and all it holds.

Your reactions to the universe will vary in degree and manner. The more sensitive and perceptive you are to its influences, the riper and richer will be your education so that it will become a lifelong enrichment. What you have learned up to now should be regarded as a catalyst in the education which still awaits you. Your personal dedication to these principles will bring you to the end of your earthly existence with the most priceless of riches, a whole man who has lived life to the fullest.

English

MISS ANGELA McDERMOTT

Constancy and creativity are the countersigns of our Hope English department. Under the supervision of Miss Angela McDermott, the teachers strive to promote correct grammar usage, a well-rounded vocabulary, and a broad interest in literature.

Pupils acquire reading skills in remedial reading, a branch of the English department taught by Miss Sarah McIntyre. Students learn the skills of self-expression through writing. The aim of the English department is to impress upon the students the necessity of a sound English background.

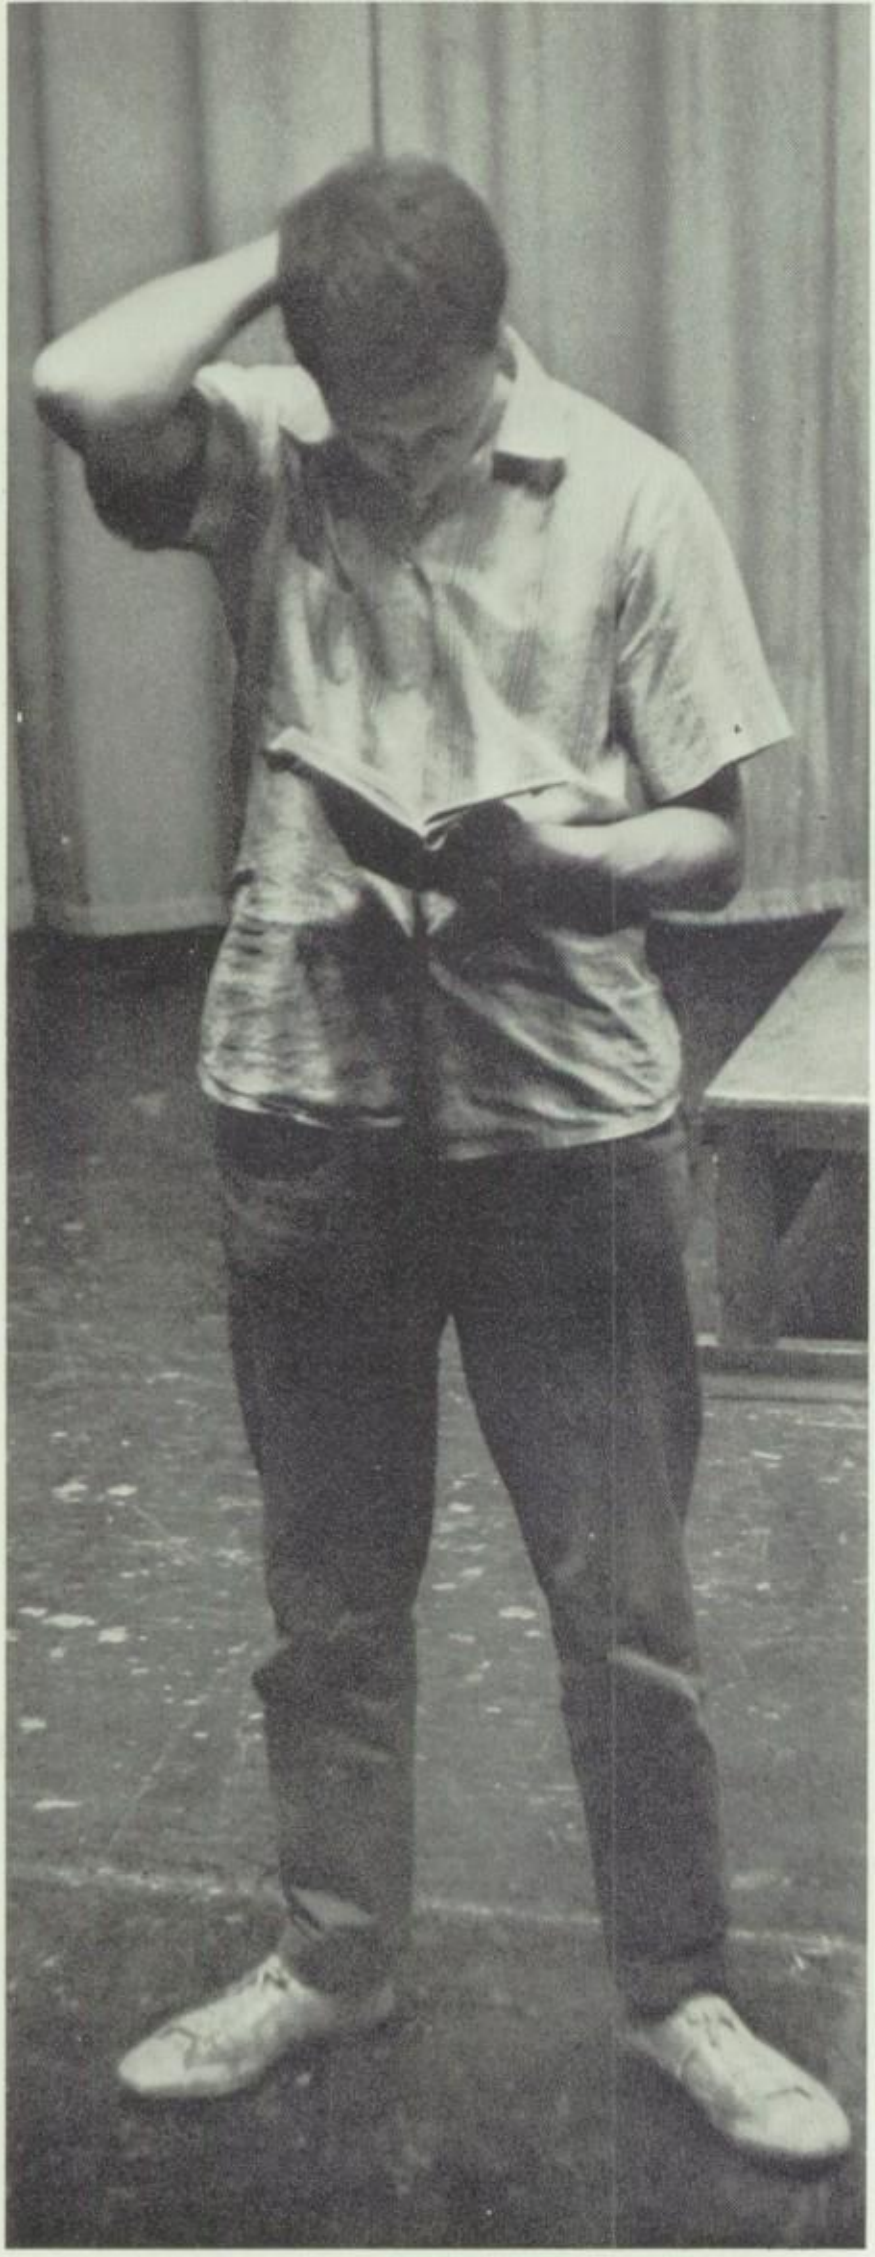
MISS ROSE PRESEL

Conversation and comprehension are the aims of every language teacher, and Miss Rose Presel, head of the language department, certainly adheres to these rules. Whether a student studies French, German, Italian, or Spanish, he receives a fundamental foundation in reading experience, grammar, and confidence in conversing with others.

One studies the land and the literature of his language. Those who study a foreign tongue widen their personal perspective and acquire an understanding of other peoples.

Modern Foreign Languages



That's k-a-t . . . cat.

MR. JAMES C. SMITH

Mr. James C. Smith and those seniors who have had the privilege of knowing him, naturally believe that Latin is not only an ornament, but a necessity as well. A study of Latin develops "word conscience"—the ability to select the proper word from several with similar meaning. In addition to this, a study of Latin aids in other areas such as modern foreign languages and literature.

Once a student has had our one and only Latin instructor, he invariably is persuaded to continue his study of Latin. Because we are now on a seven period schedule, Mr. Smith hopes that the Latin program will be extended to include an enriching fourth year.

I wonder what Einstein would have done with this.

As Mr. John F. Keough, head of the mathematics department, tries to teach the concept of calculus to one class, another group struggles with the fundamentals of geometry. Elementary algebra offers a precise and functional type of math while advanced algebra deals with the basic theories of the subject. The pupils who elect trigonometry must understand the purpose and the use of sines, secants and slide rules—all of which form a part of the maze of logical mathematics.

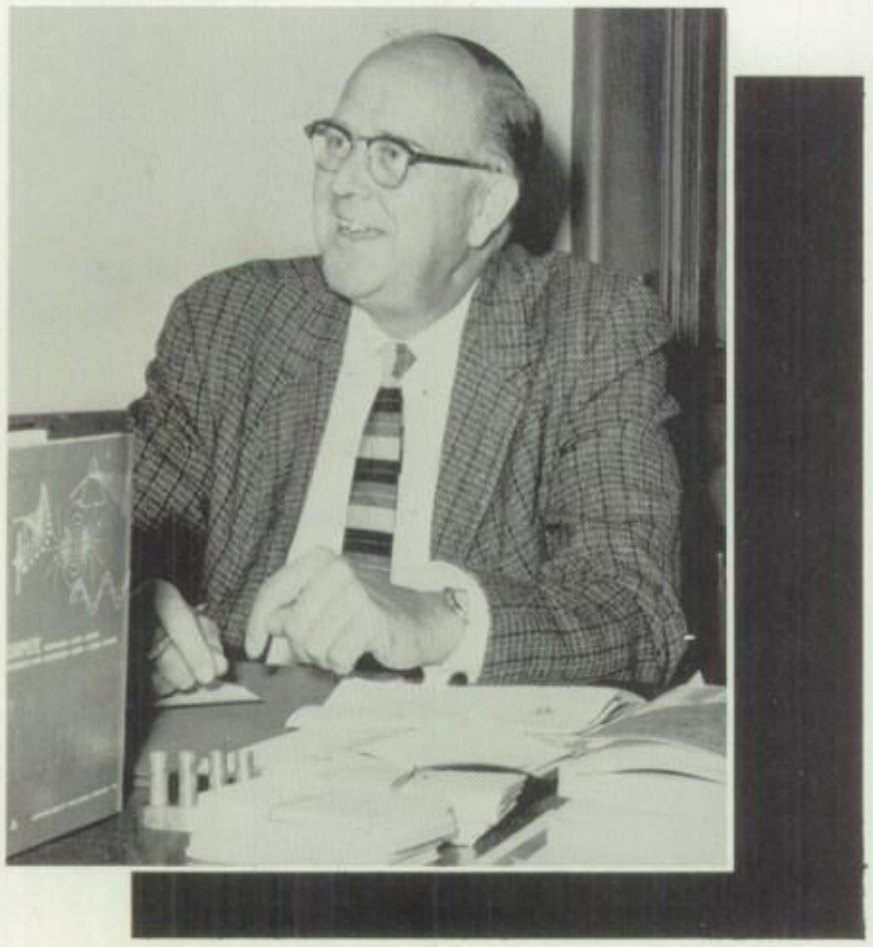
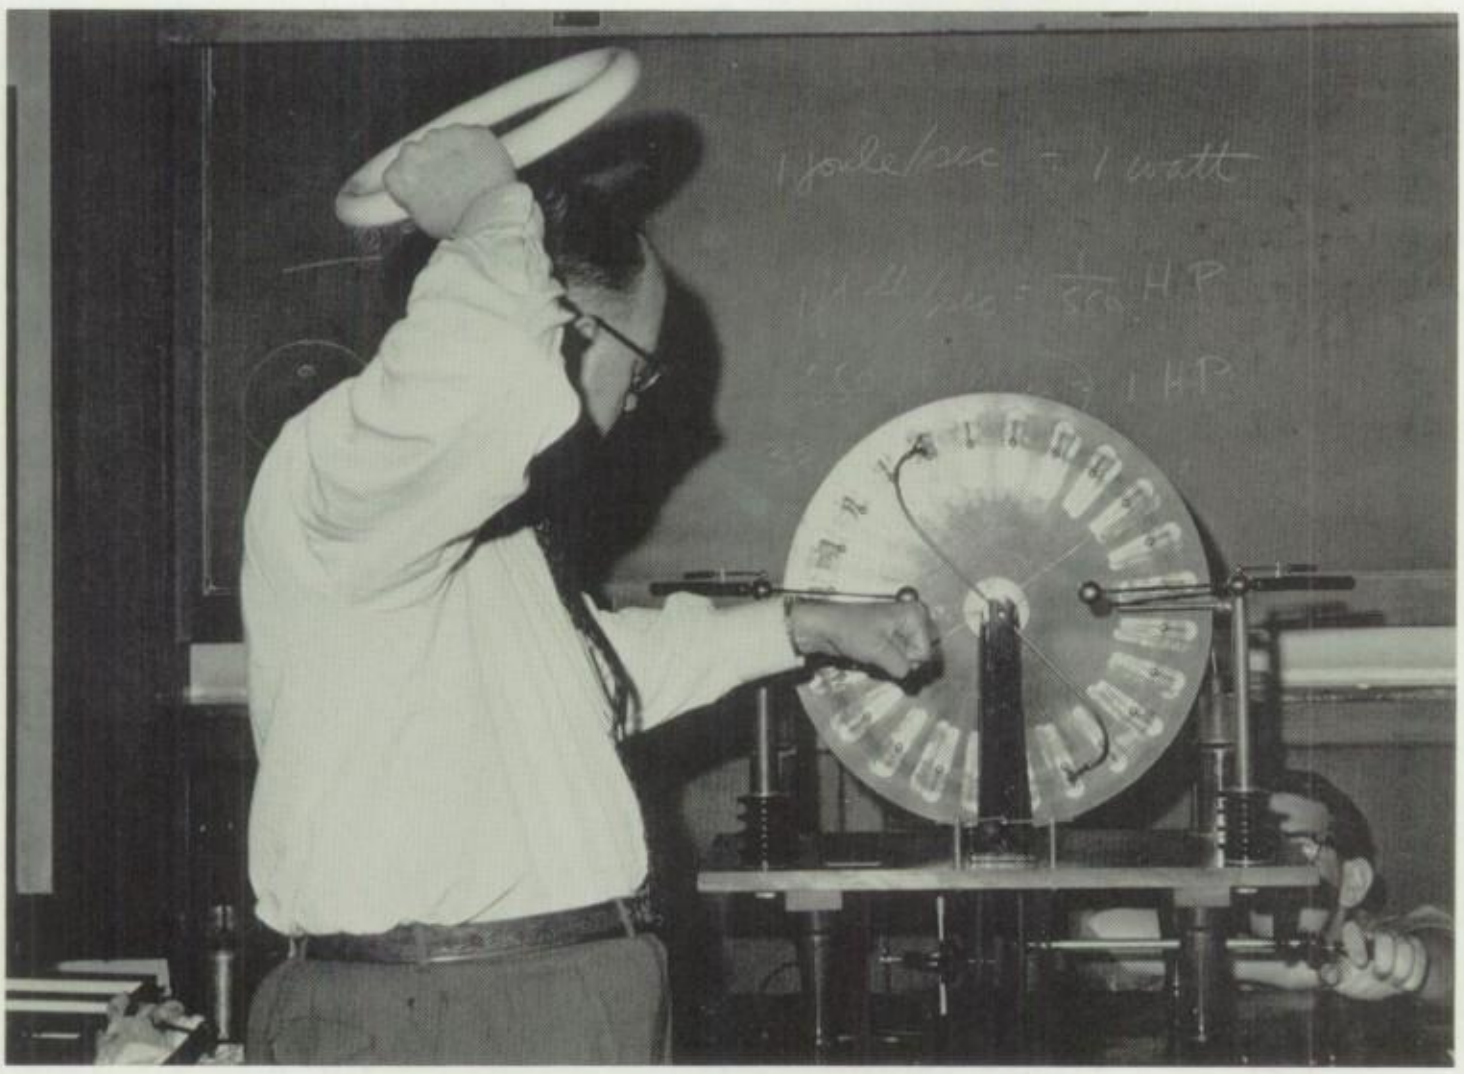
Science



MR. ROBERT G. GURNAM

Test tubes and tables constitute the typical science class at Hope. In physics one studies the natural phenomenon of the world. Students in biology classes are startled to discover that bugs are not bugs, but insects. Chemistry seeks to discover the complex materials of which our universe is made.

Lab periods are usually a mixture of atoms, aprons, and accidents where students learn about the laws and applications of chemistry. All of the science courses are planned and scheduled by Mr. Robert Gurnham, the capable head of the science department.



Halo, everybody, Halo!

Mr. Michael Sarkesian, Mr. Edward Cunningham, Mr. Leon Basso, Miss Grace Arnold, Mr. Joseph Di Palma and Mr. Gordon Dummer have been caught in the science line-up.

MISS ANNA C. DOWLING

Under the supervision of the Social Studies department, Hope students learn about past and present problems of the world. This department is headed by Miss Anna C. Dowling. The structure and purpose of the American government is explained in civics and courses in European and American History uncover "man's story." History becomes animated as it passes in a procession of wars, inventions, and rulers.

MISS EDNA MacDONALD

When youth has a question unanswered,
When youth must learn virtue from vice;
To whom shall they go for their courage?
Of whom shall they ask their advice?

They shall go to their elders for wisdom;
They shall ask what is wrong and what's right
And these are the men who will answer
They will lead youth from shadow to light.

Guidance

Come, come—hand over the records like a nice little girl.

College or career, teaching or typing, music or medicine—the future success of every Hope student may be accredited to our school's excellent guidance department. Under the direction of Miss Edna MacDonald, the members of this department introduce new pupils to the school, acquainting them with the activities, programs, and procedures. During his three years stay at Hope, the student confers with his guidance counselor who helps him plant the seeds for the future. Finally, when graduation time approaches, the guidance counselor provides definite information regarding careers or higher education.

Do you have a problem? You say you don't have enough points to graduate and you just blew up the chemistry lab? Come and get consolation from Mrs. Gertrude Kavanagh, secretary, Miss Edna MacDonald, Mr. Amadeo Lorenzo, Mr. Charles Matoian, Mr. Leo Weiss, Mr. Paul Mirante, Mr. Richard Curran and Mrs. Alice Jernstedt.

Commercial

The Hope High business department, headed by Miss M. Barbara Murray, teaches its students typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business math, burroughs, consumer education, business law, and salesmanship in preparation for future careers.

Workers of tomorrow type, tally, and transcribe in an effort to fulfill the needs of a rapidly growing America. They are taught many of the fundamentals, such as confidence and courtesy, which are necessary for successful careers. These students in the business department are given an opportunity for a thorough training which promises success in whatever they may pursue.

Amid the pressures of a harried day, musically inclined students have the opportunity to develop their talents. For these students, the band, directed by Mr. John Halliwell, and the orchestra, directed by Mr. John Cardoza, meet daily for practice to perfect their skills in order to reach complete harmony.

Students interested in art have a chance to express their feelings and emotions through pencil, paintbrush, or pastel to create meaningful design. Miss Frances Burnham heads the art department in which artistically talented students are encouraged to participate in advanced programs.

Industrial —

Mr. Chester Ruoof, as head of Industrial Arts, finds time in his busy schedule to aid his staff. Seated next to Mr. Ruoff is Mrs. Elizabeth Busch, and behind her are Mr. G. Peterson, Mr. R. Barton and Mr. John Salinger.

In the industrial arts department, many boys of Hope learn to become tradesmen. When each boy's project is perfected it assumes a practical purpose with the aid of modern tools and equipment.

Future homemakers gain valuable experience in cooking, sewing, and dress designing. The goal of the home economics department is to develop the students' abilities to create a happy home.

Miss Mary Campbell and Miss Florence McCart discuss plans for next term's economic program.

Gymnasium

Students in the gym department enthusiastically participate in various activities and sports to learn the meaning of leadership and sportsmanship. The girls' gym department is headed by Miss Agnes Flaherty, and the boys' department by Mr. Fred Davis.

The gym period passes quickly as girls stretch sore muscles, and boys practice pushups. The girls activities include volleyball, cageball, tennis, table tennis, and exercises. The boys engage in a varied routine of playing basketball, doing exercises, and working with apparatus. After school sports are offered for both boys and girls.

MISS MARY C. BRENNAN

Bumps, bangs, burns or bruises—whatever the ailment every Hopeite can depend on our capable nurse, Miss Mary Brennan. Whether the emergency is major or minor, Miss Brennan exercises the greatest care in keeping the Hope High faculty and student body in first class condition. In addition to these everyday medical concerns, Miss Brennan supervises Hope's Future Nurses Club, thus acquainting ambitious newcomers with the field of medicine.

Hope's main office is the center for bills, bulletins, broadcasts, and business. Tardy students may not be happy to receive late slips, but they still are greeted by the smiling faces of (l-r) Mrs. Katherine Bourck, Mrs. Maria Washington, Miss Nancy Hastie and Miss Virginia West.

Health and Happiness

Miss Ann Mason and Miss Katherine Gallivan help many students collect research material.

Our two well-read librarians, Miss Katherine Gallivan and Miss Ann Mason can give a detailed description of almost every book in the library—a library, which, due to their efforts, is continually growing and improv ing. Not only do they keep all of their books and records in perfect order, but also in perfect condition, thus making it a pleasure for every student to use the library.

Mrs. Marian Strauss manages to keep in order Hope's busy schedule of plays, proms, and productions. She is part of Hope High's spirit and is involved in almost every aspect of the school's activities. But, although her services are in continuous demand, Mrs. Strauss still finds time to become well-acquainted with and beloved by every Hope student who is fortunate enough to work with her.

MRS. MARIAN STRAUSS

MR. LEON VALLIER

Mr. Vallier and his custodial crew eradicate dirt and grime from the interior of the dusty, deserted school. Each corner becomes spotless in a fraction of the time it takes 2,300 Hopeites to leave their mark.

Classrooms are supplied with fresh materials from the inexhaustible stock of Mr. Walter Leach.

To keep the students of Hope High healthy, Mrs. Vivian Parker and her staff keep them well nourished with hot lunches, sandwiches, ice cream, milk, and cookies from the kitchen of our school.

Standing (l-r): May O'Brien, Elizabeth Costigan.

MISS MARY A. MARTIN

Miss Mary A. Martin, after being with Hope for 37 years, is truly a part of school tradition. She even remained faithful to Hope when the school changed its location in 1938. Every Hope High girl can depend on Miss Martin for her helpful services in the girls' showerroom.

For those students who are interested in a career in the medical field, membership in the Future Nurses Club, is worthwhile. Hope students learn more about their chosen profession by visiting local hospitals and hearing lectures from qualified guest speakers. Elizabeth Altounian is president of this group, which meets bi-monthly under the supervision of Miss Mary Brennan. Members of the Future Nurses Club have the opportunity to establish a solid foundation for their future career.

The talent for teaching is acquired through study, discussion, and understanding. The Future Teachers Club at Hope tries to provide these things by including in its monthly meetings, speakers, films and field trips. Thus do members learn of the many opportunities offered in this field. It is also through these meetings that members develop their individual interests in particular fields and gain an understanding of the great satisfaction available to workers in the profession.

Mr. James McCaughey, advisor, and Barbara Bourck, president, are proud of the group and of its tradition and hope that the undergraduate members will continue in the spirit of the organization.

The hallowed halls of Hope.

X English

The art of creative writing is fully analyzed in the accelerated English course. The enlightening senior course is taught by Mr. Matthew Millman. Comprehending the structure of literature creates a greater understanding of the complexities of life. Reading, writing, and rhetoric, which have become the new "three r's," are guide posts to better self expression.

Calculus

The advanced placement course in mathematics is a one year course in calculus and related analytical geometry. This subject is parallel to a first year college course, and is under the supervision of Mr. John F. Keough.

Advanced Physics

Advanced physics, taught by Mr. Robert G. Gurnham, is designed to give the student a deeper understanding of the basic principles of physics. Like the calculus course, it is equivalent to a college freshman course.

Twelve Hope students meet every Tuesday after school to discuss the activities of the H.H.S.A.R.A., The Hope High School Amateur Radio Association. Gregory Chase is the president of this group and he receives helpful assistance from Mr. Robert Gurnham.

Mr. Gurnham, a club member or a guest lecturer usually gives a lecture on "ham" radios to the novices. If a novice desires to receive his F.C.C. novice class license he must learn code as well as electronic theory.

KITJO is a licensed F.C.C. operating station and is one of the strongest on the air. We at Hope are proud of the skillful and efficient functioning of this organization.

Several Hopeites lend a helping hand to the school library. These students aid Miss Gallivan to keep the library operating smoothly. Their varied services include checking passes, filing cards, and repairing books. The library aides, who are indispensable to Hope's library, have the opportunity to become acquainted with the functioning of a library and to further their own knowledge of authors and their works.

Infirmary Aides

The infirmary aides are fortunate to gain knowledge through experience while aiding our school nurse, Miss Mary Brennan. For students who plan to pursue careers in nursing, this is an excellent opportunity to acquire invaluable training. This group is one of the most inspiring organizations for preparation for a future in medicine.

Conservatory Aides

"People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones." This is a motto which definitely applies to our conservatory aides. Encased in their world of plants and specimens, these students denote special care to everything from geraniums to turtles.

Directed by Mr. Gordon Dummer, these students gain practical experience in the natural sciences. Our conservatory is one of the brightest sections of Hope High and the amiable students who work there merit praise equal to the satisfaction they obtain.

Art Services

The art services group is composed of many talented students at Hope. These pupils are devoted persons who seek opportunities outside of regular instruction to express their thoughts. Guided by Miss Frances Burnham, members of the art services group create artistic posters which publicize events, club notes, and activities of importance in our school.

Corridor Receptionists

The corridor receptionist group is composed of girls who guide students and visitors throughout the school. These girls, who relinquish a study period to aid the school, have permanent positions on our first floor corridor.

Hostesses

Although the ushers play a major role in the duty of seating the audience during activities taking place in the school auditorium, the hostesses render valuable assistance. As the boys are primarily concerned with the seating arrangements, the hostesses pass out programs and greet visitors in the true Hope manner.

Susan Wunsch and Phyllis Koffler represent Hope's 200 French students who are members of the Jr. Alliance Francaise, an international organization fostering programs of French culture and entertainment.

Susan Braunstein is chairman of this club. The members celebrate German holidays and feasts. By participating in these activities the students of the German Club receive educational enrichment.

Italian Club

The Italian Club offers programs to develop the fluency, knowledge, and understanding by the students of the Italian language.

Orchestra

Under the leadership of Mr. John Cardoza, individual members of the orchestra combine their efforts to reveal to listeners the magic of music.

Always working tirelessly to be at their best for such events as inter-school concerts, special assemblies, the senior play, Honor's Day and graduation they practice "in partem" during the fifth period.

The fruits of their efforts often can be heard filtering through the auditorium and into the corridors of our school.

Hope Log Editors

The Hope Log staff, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Scanlan, works enthusiastically in an effort to meet monthly deadlines. It is the aim of the staff to uncover the interesting and the unusual in its news stories, and features.

The Log could never be produced without the cooperation from its various staffs. The circulation staff is kept busy with homeroom orders while the advertising staff seeks new patrons. Reporters and photographers cover every phase of activity at Hope High. After the news has been written, and pictures have been taken, the editors compile the layout to create each award winning monthly edition of the Log.

Susan Braunstein, Exchange Editor, checks on next month's assignments.

Football

Under the able coaching of Mike Sarkesian this year's Hope Football Team achieved surprising victories on the gridiron field. Although the Blue Wave lost a major number of its games, it was able to show its potential in the last few games of the season. This revelation began with the much heralded upset over Rogers High. This milestone continued with a victory over the Black and Gold of Central. In the final two games of the season, the Wave met defeat at the hands of Warwick and Cranston East.

The Hope gridironers possessed an unusually potent backfield and impenetrable defense. The quarterbacking of Doug Roundtree and the hard running of Dick Mabray had a direct bearing on Hope's victories. The defense combination of Cooper Winn, Dennis Kenny, Peter Gaines and Ed Peck also deserves praise.

Considering this season a "rebuilding year," Coach Sarkesian promises a much improved squad which will be definite League Championship contenders. Mr. Sarkesian's optimism is based on such returning veterans as kicking specialist Dick Daniels and swift runners: Henry Gaines and Frank Pensa.

Sweeping through a season of victories, the Falkmen concluded their 1962 Outdoor Track season by regaining their fifth straight state title. This particular triumph had great significance to many Hope veterans, being the last official meet under their track boss, Coach Falk. The Blue Wave also collected titles in the Relay Carnival, University of Rhode Island Interscholastics, and Class A Championship.

Sparkling the team with their first place honors were All Staters Harvey Franklin and Bob Kershaw. Other point scorers on the roster were high-jumper Jim Ackroyd, low hurdler Frank Geremia, half miler Sol Hartman, and quarter miler Ben Johnson. These and other returning lettermen should prove to form an invincible nucleus for the Blue Wave's next Outdoor Track season.

He flies through the air with the greatest of ease.

Undefeated in dual meet competition for three straight years, Hope's cross country added the frosting to the cake by regaining the State Championship from cross town rival La Salle. The team was directed by Coach Ned Haire who replaced retiring Coach Falk.

Co-captains Harvey Franklin and Bill McConaghy were joined by veterans Jim Ackroyd, Sol Hartman, Domingo Correira and Ken Chernack to set a grueling pace from the first dual meet victory to the final State Championship Crown at Warwick. All-Stater Harvey Franklin earned individual heralds throughout the season by continually crossing the tap first and setting five new cross records. He will always be remembered as Rhode Island's top schoolboy harrier.

In the Bruckshaw race, which marked the first major meet of the season, Hope swept to a comfortable victory over East Providence. Franklin won the event being followed by the quintet of Ackroyd, McConaghy, Hartman and Chernack. The Class A Meet again saw the Blue Wave victorious by topping East Providence 63 to 67.

The climactic performance of the team was obtained by winning the State Championship at Warwick where the Hope Harriers defeated runner-up East Providence by a slim margin of four points. In this meet, Hope's ace Harvey Franklin lowered the old course record by 14 seconds and completed an amazing schoolboy career by leading his team mates to the State Championship Title. As a result of this victory, the Blue Wave earned the right to represent the State at the New England Interscholastic Meet at the University of Maine at Oreno, Maine. Veterans Ken Chernac, Jim Duffy, Mike Gearusso, Terry Cannon, Joe Fern, and Ray Jarvis will form the nucleus of next year's team.

It's all in a day's work for Hope runner Dick Mabray.

The Hope Indoor Track Team ended its string of three consecutive state titles by losing to LaSalle Academy in the Rhode Island Interscholastic State Championship at the Cranston Street Armory. With Jeff Ramsey scoring second in the shot put and John Carpenter and Jim Ackroyd tying for fourth in the high jump, the Blue Wave was able to maintain an early lead over the close running Maroon. At the completion of the mile and 40 yd. dash, Hope trailed by a considerable number of points. The Wave's trackmen then began to raise their few points with Phil Hughes placing 5th in the low hurdles, Bob Sowa gaining fourth in the 100 yd. run, and Sol Hartman placing 3rd in the 1000 yd. runs. The quartet of Ben Johnson, Dick Mabray, Bob Sowa, and Bob Lowe ran 2nd in the closing one-lap relay. The class A Meet and Brown Interscholastics were repeats of the State Meet with the exception of Bob Sowa who sped to a blazing 3rd in the 600 yd. run, and Sol Hartman who scored a surprising first. Coach Haire foresees a championship team next year with returning veterans Robert Duffy, Ken Chernack, Bob Sowa, Barry Loeckler and David Rosen.

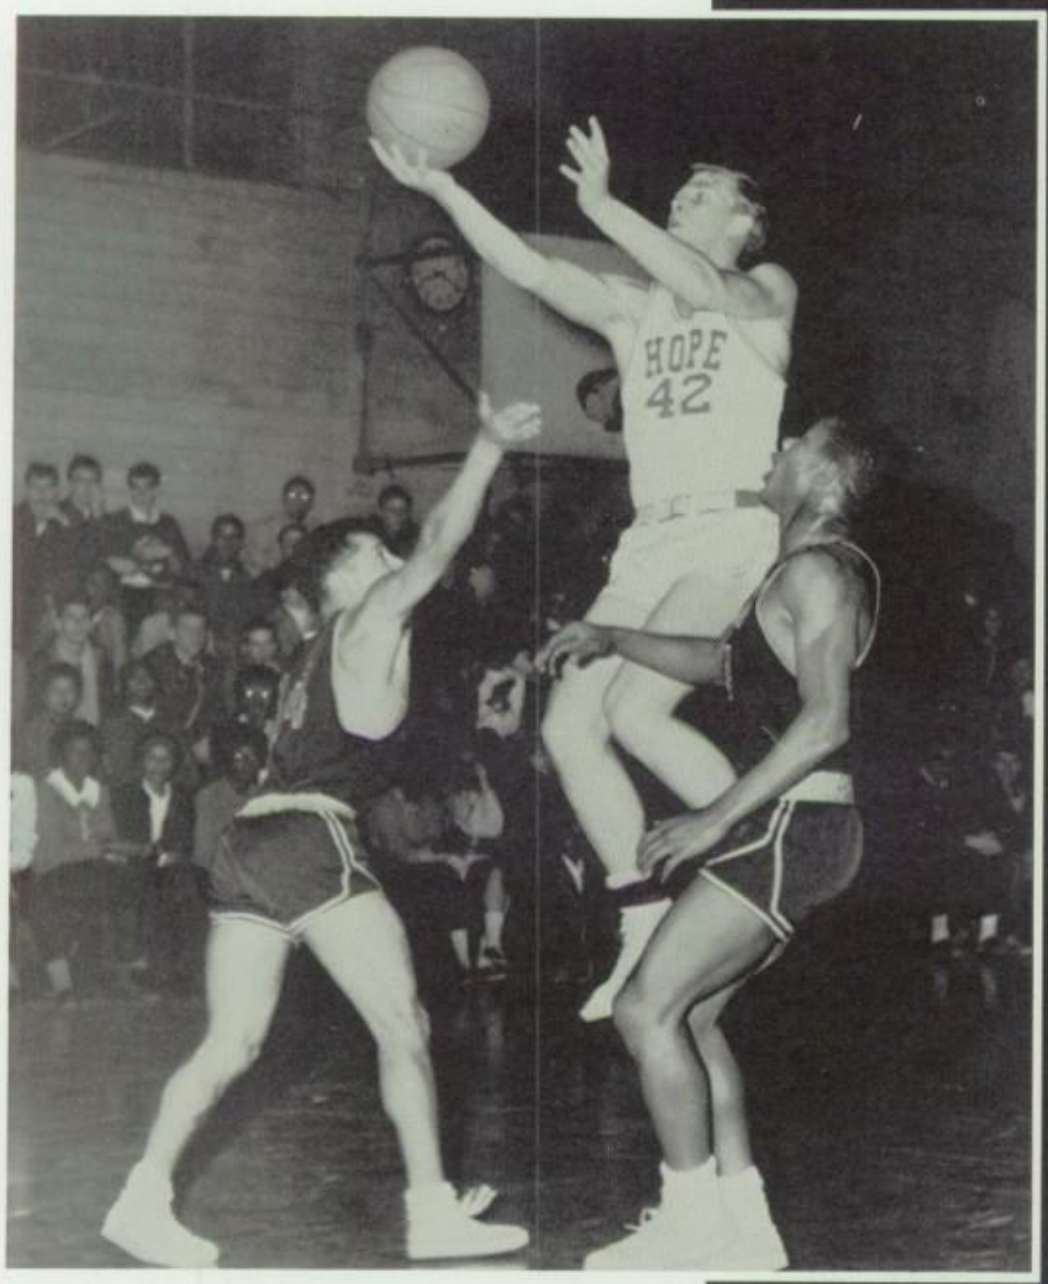
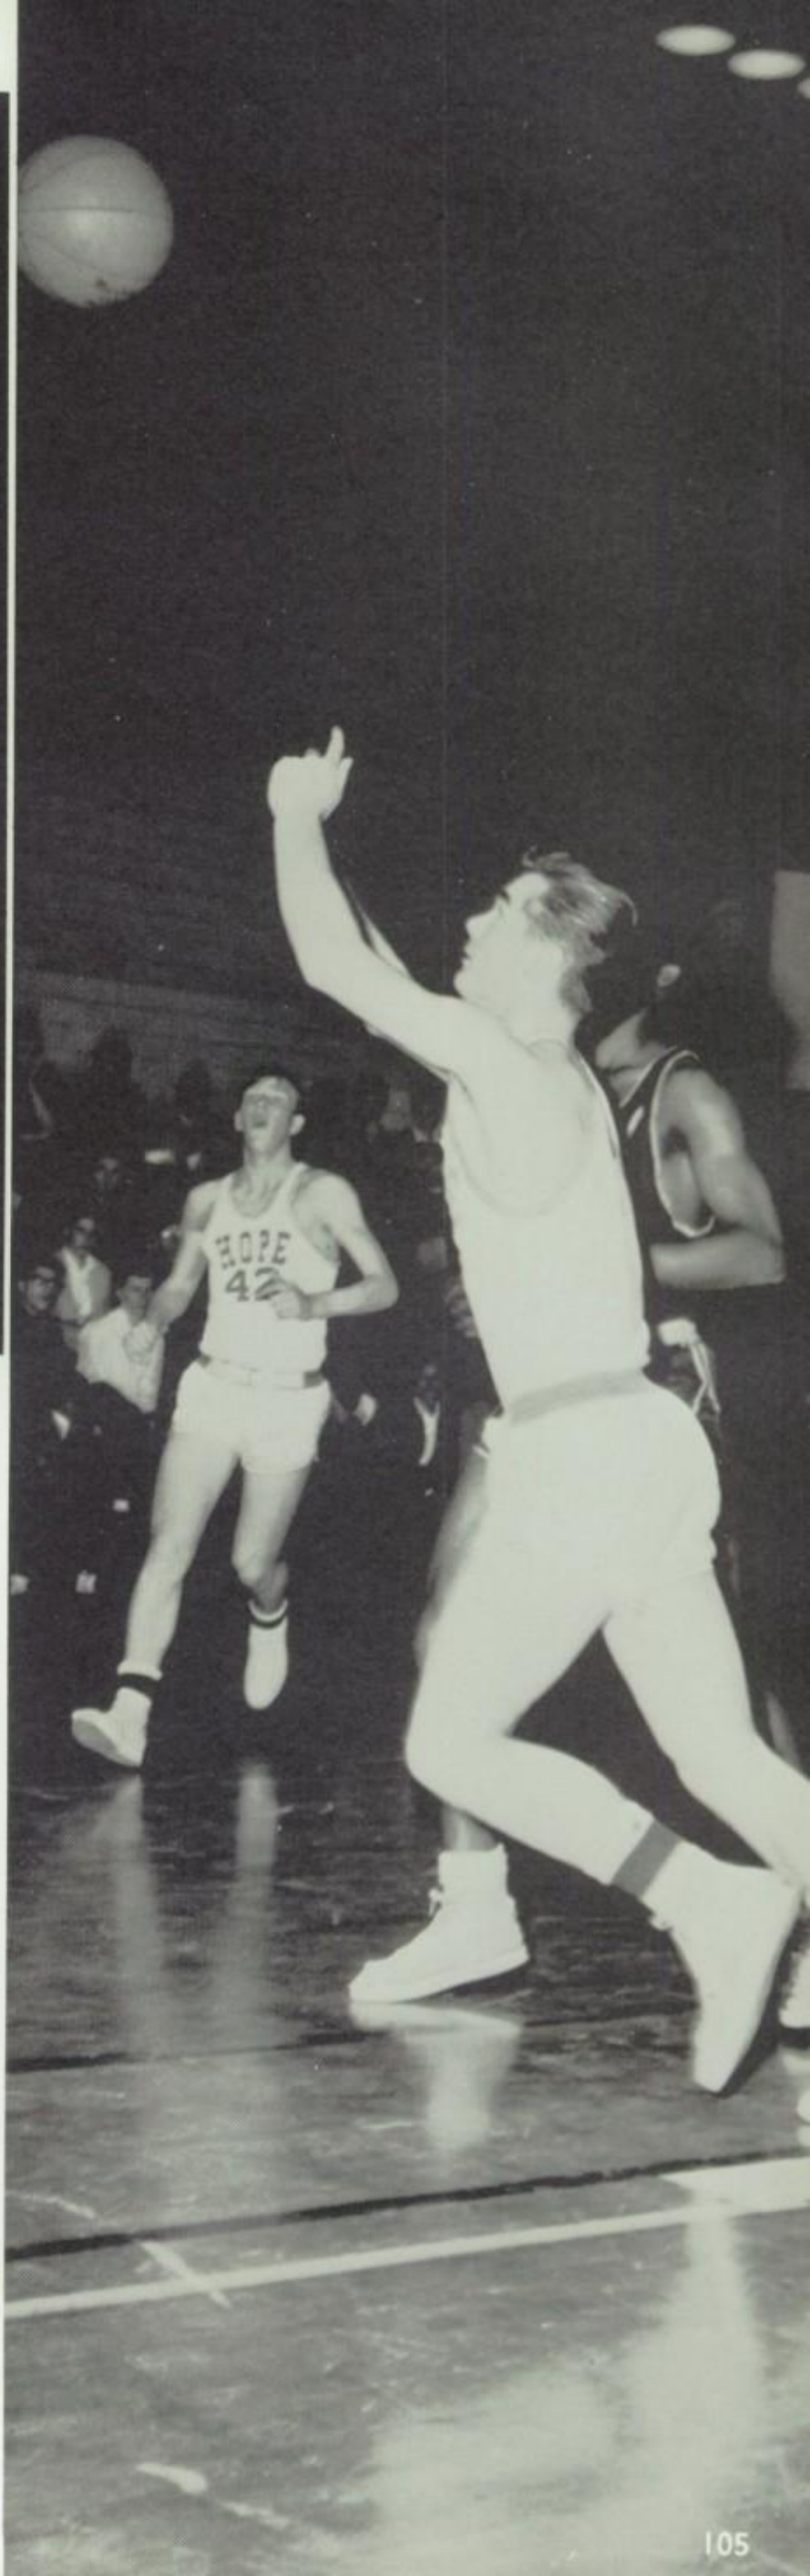
Despite the odds, Hope players persist.



Fran Holland keeps Central players on their toes.



The 1963 Hope Basketball Team, coached by Mr. Mike Sarkesian, enjoyed a fine season by finishing second to Rogers in the Class A division. Led by Joe Cannon, Bill McConaghy, Fran Holland, and Jim Ackroyd, the Blue Wave constituted a well balanced team. Although the Wave had a strong bench, the absence of a big pivot man prevented the team from winning the championship. Supported by fine shooters Fran Holland, Steve Macomber, "Chubbs" Simon, and "Hopper" Salmonson, the Sarkesian men focused their offensive on a steady hand and a hard drive.

The climax of the season came in the return match with La Salle at Hope. Winning a previous game on their home court, the Maroon felt confident of repeating their performance but found themselves upset in a game that was not decided until the last two seconds. The Blue Wave then entered the playoffs but not until they had downed Cranston and Central in two hard-fought battles. In the opening round Hope met Sacred Heart in a deciding game where the Beavers were unable to prove themselves superior till the last fifteen seconds of play when they slipped ahead by one point after eating away a Hope lead of ten points. Unable to score again, the Wave was knocked out of playoff competition.

Next year's basketball season seems extremely hopeful with returning veterans Fran Holland, Steve Macomber, Earl Connors, John Simon, Steve Perry and Sam Besachio.

Baseball

Under the experienced coaching of Mr. Paul Donovan and the strong pitching arm of Russ Thompson, the Hope Baseball Team posted a seven win-five defeat record last season. The Blue Wave began the League opener with a thrilling victory over La Salle, in which Russ Thompson hurled a one hitter, and ended with a five-one win over Warwick. The year was mainly one of rebuilding.

Returning to the Blue Wave are several outstanding lettermen who promise to spark the Wave ball club to a possible 1963 Interscholastic League Championship. Paul Mori, versatile fielder, and Joe Cannon, powerful slugger, will highlight the veteran lettermen. Joe D'Ambra, Steve MacOmber, Brian McCaffrey, and Bob McKenny compose a strong nucleus for the Hope team. For the 1963 season, Coach Donovan expresses optimism which will surely materialize.

Through the competent leadership of coach Howie Goldsmith, the Wave's netmen proved to be worthy contenders for the State title. Spear-headed by All-Stater Ed Shein the Wave posted a record of eight wins and three losses. Although hard hit with graduating seniors, this year's racketmen again promise to be able challengers for the Championship with returning lettermen Roger Davis, Alan Goldsmith, and Frank O'Orio.

Sparked by the individual performance of Captain John Mehrman, the 1963 Hope Wrestling Team finished its interscholastic season with a commendable record of four victories and six defeats. Although the Hope matmen had an unusual number of outstanding individuals, they lacked sufficient depth. This flaw deterred the grapplers from obtaining state recognition as a team, but it enabled its top men John Mehrman (8-1), Lou Federici (8-2), and Bill Hickey (4-0) to share the lime light. Coach Frank Caprio is considerably optimistic about his returning veterans: D. Goldstein, R. Dozier, and D. Schwartz. Next year's squad promises to be successful.

Under the leadership of Coach Leo Kraunelis, the Blue Wave Hockey Team posted its first undefeated season in the history of the school. Although downed by Burrillville in the state finals, the Hope ringsters swept to a 15-0-1 record at the conclusion of the regular season.

Led by such All-State potentials as Paul Mori, leading school boy scorer, and Ron Soltys, the Wave's ace goalie, the icemen turned back the Broncos in league competition. They were not, however, able to repeat this performance after they had defeated La Salle to gain a final victory over Burrillville. Exhibiting a valiant display of teamwork and finesse, the Blue Icemen blanketed such teams as Cumberland (11-0), Mount Pleasant (9-1), and Cranston (7-0).

With returning veterans Roger Davis, Ron Soltys, Bill Christodal, Alan Goldsmith, and Harry Towne, Coach Kraunelis promises another League Championship.

Volleyball

Girls with an enthusiasm for sports have an opportunity to take part in a variety of athletic activities offered after school. During this week, students participate with zeal in swimming, volleyball, table tennis, basketball, badminton and bowling. Each sport covers a period of eight weeks. At the completion of the series, the girls receive a small, diamond-shaped "H". Having fulfilled eight different series, the girls are eligible to receive major letters. The girls sports program, although comparatively new, has proved to be a successful Hope venture.

This Is Mr. Richard Curran

This is Mr. Richard Curran . . . guidance counselor of the Hope High class of January, 1963. This is a man of many and mixed qualities. He is the special confidant, the strong leader, and the trusted advisor of every one of his students. There are few teachers who can play so many roles and play each so well. It is because of these qualities that he is a part of Hope High School. This is a teacher in the finest, warmest, and most respected sense of the word. This is Mr. Richard Curran.

One of the Winsocki cheerleaders mimics Gale Joy.

Winsocki boys become over exuberant when they receive Gale Joy's letter.

Every year the students and faculty of Hope High School look forward to the traditional senior play. The class of January 1963 successfully put on "Best Foot Forward," by John Cecil Holm, a musical comedy which centers on the happenings of a college weekend. The play concerns a boy at an all male college who invites a Hollywood starlet to be his date at the weekend. Complications arise when the publicity seeking actress accepts, and Bud, the bewildered college student, tells his regular girl that she cannot attend because he is sick. Helen, the noble girlfriend, comes anyway to be by Bud's side, and fun and hilarity result as she discovers Bud's duplicity.

Special recognition must be given to producer and director, Mrs. Marion Strauss, "an amazing woman." Without her undying efforts the play never would have taken place. The class of January 1963 is indebted to Mrs. Strauss for her energy, persistence, and exuberance.

Dr. Reeber fumes about the disturbances caused by Gale Joy.

"The cause of liberty must not be surrendered at the end of one or one hundred defeats"

A few short years ago Americans were shocked and angered at the brutal butchering of the people of Hungary in their quest for freedom. The hearts of all Americans, regardless of race, religion, or creed, went out to these brave people and to them was given American aid immediately.

More recently the United States has given aid to many underprivileged and underdeveloped areas of the world in order to strengthen the people's beliefs in democracy and equality. Our country also has given to the millions of immigrants who leave their homelands to seek a new life of freedom in the country of the "free and the brave." Americans feel very strongly about freedom and equality because their own country's independence was won so that these same beliefs would prevail. The Constitution was founded on the precepts that all men are created equal.

There is a new group of freedom fighters in America today. These people did not come to America's shores because of social, political, or religious injustices, but were brought to the country to help it grow strong and prosperous by some of its first settlers. They were put into slavery and were not free to enjoy the freedom which the government of this country is based. Then came the War Between the States and the Emancipation Proclamation which was issued by Abraham Lincoln. This document gave these down-trodden people their greatest gift, the one which they are still fighting for today. This Proclamation gave them their freedom.

Over one hundred years have passed since the Proclamation went into effect, but little had been done to end racial segregation until these people decided the time had come "to stand up and be counted." Their leaders chose a policy of non-violence as their weapon against bigots and rioters. They have faced many defeats, but even defeat has not stopped their quest for true justice. Their aim is to secure the rights which are guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States of America for all people, especially those who find their education and living conditions hampered by the practice of discrimination in the United States. Patience is a virtue, and virtues are always rewarded. Mr. Lincoln uttered these words which are the aim of the people who are now fighting for freedom. Freedom must be won.

THE PEACE CORPS AS I SEE IT

Gerald Smith

The Peace Corps is probably our best weapon against Communism today. In the past, only financial aid was sent to the underdeveloped countries, and often this was mismanaged and misappropriated because people who would know how to use the money to improve the land were never sent. Soon the point was reached where the common person of the land grew to hate the United States and Communism found a spawning ground.

I feel that the Peace Corps will help greatly to change opinions in other countries where we are considered an overrich, apathetic, self-centered society. The "Ugly American" must cease to exist. The prospective members of the Peace Corps, all private citizens, are tested; and those selected are permitted to work in the fields in which they themselves trained. They are sent to a training camp where they speak the language, learn the customs, and live in conditions similar to those in the country where they will serve. When they arrive at the selected country, they might have to be a doctor, an engineer, and a teacher, all at once, to rid the area of illiteracy, ignorance, and squalor as well as fight the few germs of Communism which might already exist.

In comparing the Peace Corps with the Armed Forces, I find the Peace Corps is better, for an army can be used for defensive or offensive purposes but cannot move into an area and work as the Peace Corps can. A Peace Corpsman is required to be an expert in his own field as well as have a knowledge of others. He must live with the people, speak their language, and observe their customs. In other words, he must be a goodwill ambassador at all times. A soldier might not have the necessary training or intelligence. Anyone can be a soldier, but not everyone can be a Peace Corpsman. Also, the sight of uniformed men never makes anyone comfortable, and the use of the Armed Forces in such a program might be defined by our enemies as "imperialist aggression" on our part.

President Kennedy said, "Ask not what your country can do for you but what you can do for your country." I feel it is my duty as an American citizen today to help my country and her cause as much as possible. If I were able to serve in the Peace Corps, I would feel proud in knowing that I would be serving my country in what is probably her biggest challenge to date, and I would have the satisfaction of fighting Communism in a most active way.

We are eighteen years behind schedule because at the end of the last year the Communists started a similar corps which infiltrated and took over countries. Their borders have now expanded to fewer than one hundred miles from our shores. The use of an army might be termed aggression and might even lead to war. The use of ordinary people doing their ordinary, everyday jobs cannot be termed anything but brotherly love and human kindness. Governments are not taken over, but the people are. Through our self-help plan Communism would be stalemated and an eventual peace be made possible.

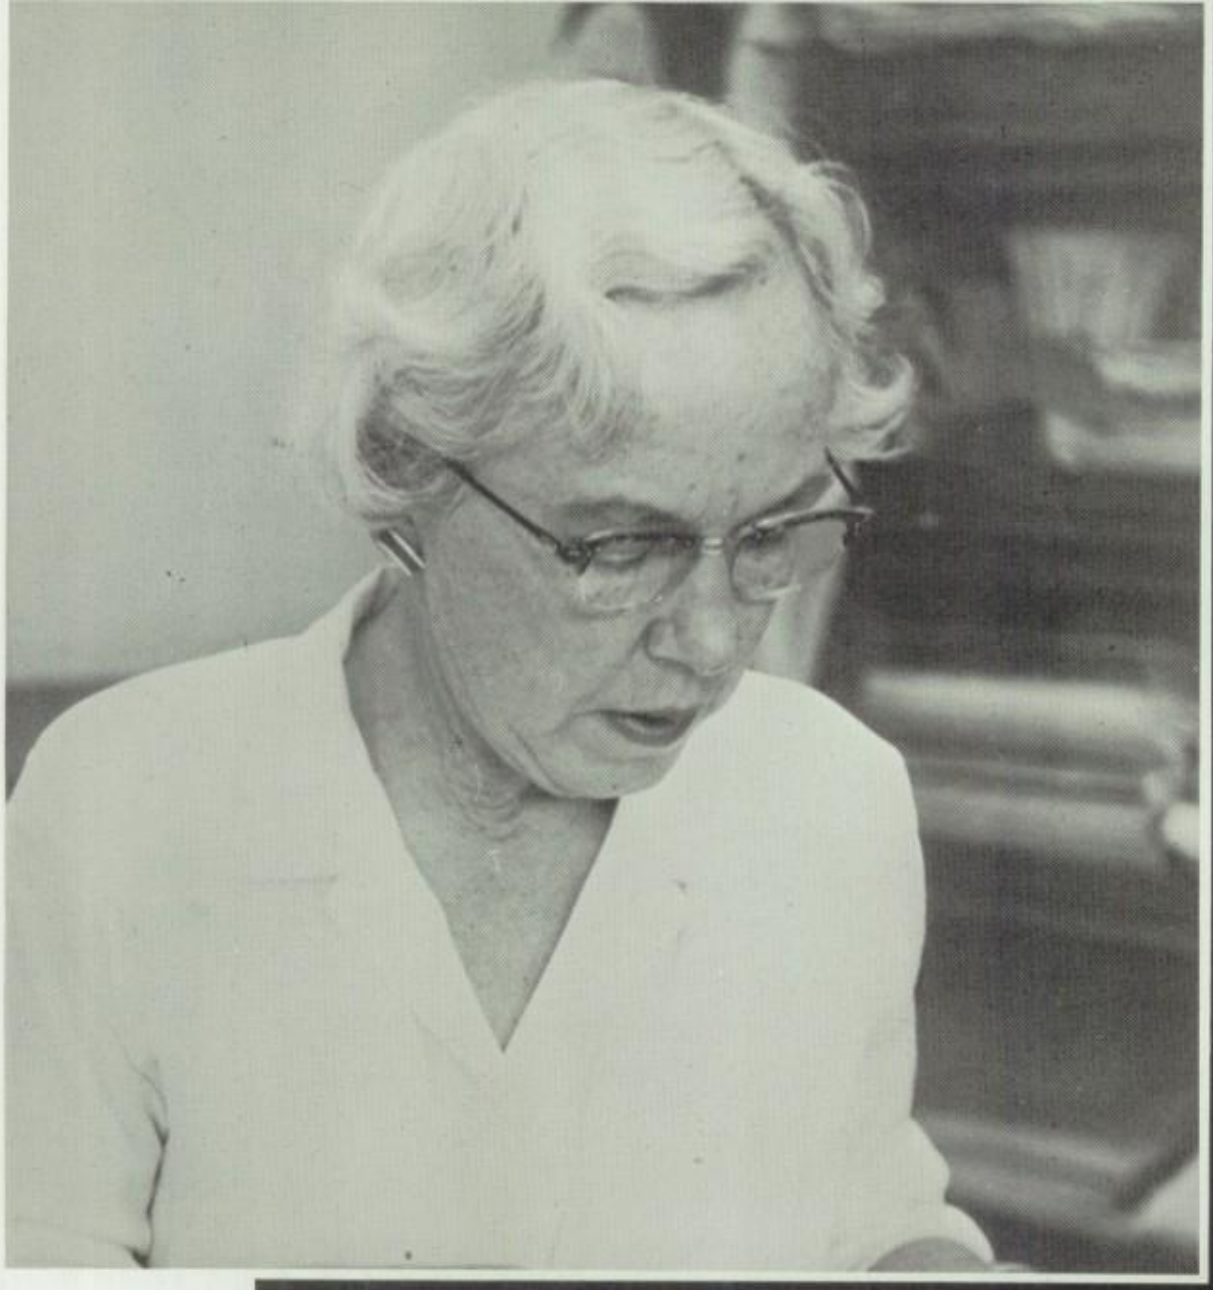
The staff of the 1963 Blue and White joins the students and faculty of Hope High School in expressing sincere sympathy to the parents and relatives of Margery Ellen Winkler. Margery, a member of the June graduating class, was in a car and bus collision on February 23 while visiting her sister in West Philadelphia. We, her friends, have suffered a great loss in her passing.



This Is Mrs. Alice Jernstedt

This is Mrs. Alice Jernstedt . . . guidance counselor of the Hope High Class of June, 1963. This is a woman of encouragement, enthusiasm and energy. She is the understanding intermediary, the competent advisor, the influential stimulator of her entire class—the class that she guides as a whole and strengthens as individuals. Because she inspires these individuals, they are motivated to seek and achieve their respective goals. This is Mrs. Alice Jernstedt.

Senior Play, June, 1963 "Daddy Long-Legs"

Jimmy takes off in his characteristic manner.

Walters is shocked as Jervis swallows a whole bottle of medicine in one gulp.

The Sphinx materializes under the able hands of Ray Villegas.

Prince Charming is entertained by the court jester.

A student committee prepares some of the spectacular props used in the play.

A tour of Egypt offers many interesting sights.

On May 11, 1963, the June Class presented its production of "Daddy Long-Legs" by Jean Webster. This is the story of a young girl in an orphanage who is given an opportunity to go to college by a benefactor whose identity is unknown to her. She falls in love with her roommate's uncle, Jervis Pendleton. She knows the man who is sending her to college only as John Smith. The climax of the story is when the young girl, Judy Abbott, discovers that the man with whom she has fallen in love is, in reality, her benefactor.

Kathy Hecht, as Judy, and Jim Cook, as Jervis Pendleton, portrayed their roles superbly. They were supported by a large and outstanding cast, all of whom helped to make the play a success.

One special feature of the play was the beautiful scenery, so carefully planned and designed by Roberta Levene, Diane Corona, and their scenic design committee. These people should be congratulated for their excellent productions.

Among the highlights of the play were the "Around the World" and "Cinderella" scenes innovated by Mrs. Marian Strauss, director. Special recognition should be given to Mrs. Strauss for her efforts to produce this spectacular production of "Daddy Long-Legs."

Hans greets Gretchen before she dances for him.

Paris is noted for its many artists.

Judy shows first the signs of independence before the trustees of the orphanage.

I SEE MYSELF IN A NEW LIGHT

As a child my view of the world was a small one. It was a simple, uncomplicated world consisting of dolls, candy, and early bedtimes. With the passing of time, however, my view enlarged to include books and intellectual interests; strong friendships and meeting new people began to arouse mixed feelings of curiosity and understanding. As I grew, so, too, did the world around me grow; and the more I experienced, the more I found there was to be experienced.

Now my view is no longer that of a child, but that of an adolescent, a youth on the threshold of maturity. The world is changing very rapidly for me now; it is becoming larger and more complex. This change is sometimes so striking, so confusing that it awes me or even terrifies me. But it is a change that brings happiness, too; it brings new discoveries, new wonders that amaze and delight me.

But the discovery that most surprises me is that I have suddenly encountered something very new, something that is not a part of my environment, something that I have perhaps glanced at before, but never really seen—I have discovered myself. Even my previous survey of the world around me has changed, for now I am beginning to see myself as a part of this world.

With this revelation of finding myself come new questions to be answered, new hopes to be fulfilled, new dreams to be realized.—What is my place in the world? What am I now, and what shall I become? What shall be my goals and how shall I achieve them? What is my relationship to others? What in life is truly important and what is not? —Such are the questions that arise within me.

With these new questions and emotions, my environment has taken on an entirely new appearance and meaning. It has become a place filled with opportunities and obstacles, thrills and disappointments, ecstasy and pain, all of which I shall seek out. Every door to experience is open to me, and I wish to explore each one of them. Behind these doors I shall find the answers to some of my questions, the fulfillment of some of my hopes, the realization of some of my dreams. There are some desires, undoubtedly, that will never be achieved. But all these wonders await me. Yes, now I see myself—I am awake; I am part of this world; I am the youth ready to take that step on the threshold of maturity.

"Neither despise nor oppose what thou dost not understand"

Few truths are absolute. Much of what was believed true thirty years ago has been discarded ow, or greatly enlarged upon. New ideas and insights constantly change man's concept of the truth.
Since much is yet unknown, many solutions are possible. These will be new and different, possibly dical. Yet, because a concept is new, it is not necessarily wrong; it is merely unproven. To be inrrect it, must be proven so, and then rejected. Mere rejection does not invalidate it.

This proving of ideas, this verification of possible truths, requires objectivity. The mind must be free and open all possibilities. It must be receptive, not prohibitive. It must nurture new ideas.

Conversely, prejudice can only defeat the truth. The prejudiced mind is a barren ground. It cannot nurture new eas; it can only destroy them. It destroys them because it fears them. Prejudice seeks the static truth—the "safe" uth which places everything in a nice, neat system. It cannot tolerate the open mind because the open mind is inisitive. It would destroy the static truth of prejudice. The open mind has courage, while the prejudiced mind has foundation in fear.

A man deepens his knowledge, he realizes that he is merely skimming the surface of the unknown. No one man ll ever completely understand everything. There must be many men working together. In this way only can the stness of the unknown be explored.

For centuries such groups of scientists have worked together exploring the truth. Unfortunately, they have been art from the majority. Now, with technology affecting the average man so completely, there must be closer cont between science and civilization.

To attain this closeness, the non-scientists will need open minds. They will be presented with much that is not dily understandable, but they can learn, and must learn.

Science will be meaningless without the support and understanding of society. Science has no value except to ast society. If society rejects it because it does not understand it, no progress can be made.

It is therefore essential that all men everywhere embrace objectivity. Petty prejudices, preconceived notions, and condary influences must be disregarded. Any attempts to enslave men's minds must be repulsed. Prejudice must abhorred and stamped out. Freedom of thought must be assured. The ability to think freely must be encouraged.
stitutions of learning must develop capable, free minds, not merely drill textbook knowledge—soon to be outdated into them.

Men must learn to love the truth and the freedom to think as dearly as their lives.

Only by learning to love the truth, or more properly, by learning to love the pursuit of ultimate truth, can human iety advance. Men's minds must be willing to hear, to contemplate, to debate, and to seek.

Much is unknown; much is misunderstood, but men must never despise the unknown. They must strive to compre-nd it.
